WHO SHOULD PARTICIPATE IN CAREER SERVICES?
This diagram serves as a visual guide for understanding the steps we encourage you to take to in your career development and decision making process. It is meant to be a dynamic process with movement back and forth between stages, though we recommend you begin by building self-awareness. Whenever you consider a career change, you can employ these same steps! The details may differ but the process is essentially the same.

Self Assessment
- Who am I?
  - Interests, skills, values, work styles

Exploration
- What’s out there?
  - Options, jobs, careers and industries that fit my skills and interests?

Focusing
- Which organizations are a good fit? What do I need to be competitive? Who can connect me to these organizations?

Job Search/Action Plan
- Resumes, interviews, researching options
SELF-ASSESSMENT and CAREER EXPLORATION

- How do your interests, skills, and values fit with careers?
- ALL students should explore career options – even if certain major or career choice.
- Examples of related Career Services opportunities:
  - Online guided self-assessment
  - In-person skills and interests assessment activities
  - Informational interviews with professionals in fields of interest
CAREER SERVICES BENEFITS

For First Year Students

- Employer Connections: Dozens of employers looking to hire first year students

- Bi-weekly Emails: A special email listing sent with internship opportunities for first year students and career-related events and resources.

- Networking Opportunities: Career Services encourages students to network with one another and MIT alumni through LinkedIn, an Alumni Network database, and special programming/events.
